What has become of the move to establish a canning factory here? Now is the time to get busy on the job and get it under way in time to make contracts with the farmers for the acreage to put in.

So used to war has the world become that the war now raging between Greece and Turkey scarcely attracts our attention. Yet the Turks are as industriously murdering the Armenians as before the Great War.

The soil of Morgan county in many parts is splendidly adapted to peanut culture, and since the crop is a very profitable one and easy to cultivate it should be given a try-out. Peanuts make a fine hog feed, too, and when used for this purpose does not have to be harvested—the hogs can be turned upon it.

The Courier suggested a few weeks ago that it would be a good idea to put the prisoners who are in jail with the work sentence to work on the Index road. The county has two self-dumping trucks and the prisoners could load them with gravel from Little Coney and with very little expense the road could be given a good coat of gravel before winter and made good all the winter. This ought to be done.

Remember, that if the road bonds are voted there will be work next year at good prices for every man who who wants to labor. The State and Federal government will spend more than three dollars for every one we put up and spend it here with us. We get three dollars given us for each one we spend on our own roads and then the State keeps the road up after it has been finished. And the State hard-surfaces the road, too.

Think of having roads that can be used as well in winter as in summer—no mud, no chug holes, just nice dry, smooth roads the year around! Don't you think your children and grand children would "cuss" you for "voting on" them such a hardship as good roads? Well, we don't, and are for the bonds.

POLITICAL SUICIDE.

The Republicans discovered a few days ago what a dangerous thing their tariff bill was. The conference committee wrote in it the tariff on dyes that had been rejected, and the House voted the bill down overwhelmingly. The committee scurried to cover. State after State is defeating the administration candidates at the primaries and everywhere there is evidence that the new "orphan tariff" is extremely unpopular. Both McCumber and Fordney, Senate and House authors of the bill, are retired from Congress, and yet the leaders are forcing it through. Maybe the Republican promises to Big Business must be carried out, even if it relegates the Republican party to the tall timber. The Big Interests must be served even if it destroys the party.

THE STRIKE ENDED.

The reported ending of the railroad shopmen's strike is a relief to the entire country. Just whether the agreement is a truce or a final settlement can not be judged until some disagreement arises again, but it can be hoped that for the present freight can be moved with dispatch and that business will resume its normal state.

But in time of peace is the time to prepare for war, and such legislation as will prevent a recurrence of the condition just experienced should be enacted. Some tribunal with power to hear the disputes between labor and capital should be established and clothed with the authority to enforce its decisions. Labor organizations should be required to incorporate so as to hold a legal status that would render them subject to the law. This court should have power to hear and determine all differences between the employer and the worker and to make settlement between them, and to hear and determine between the common carriers and the public the matter of rates, etc. The public should have some protection from the selfishness of both classes in the class fight waged between the employer and the employee.

THE FARMER'S HOPE.

Every farmer in Morgan county ought to realize the fact that farming will not be profitable until we secure roads that will open up a market for his products. He ought, also, to realize that with each year we delay the building of good roads the county is being left behind by our neighbor counties. It ought to be apparent that corn raising for the local market is too costly to be profitable. The amount of land required, the expense of cultivation and the added expense of marketing makes the expense more than the receipts.

With the market afforded by good roads the farmer could meet all his household expenses from the products of his cows and his poultry, leaving his main crops to swell his bank account. Truck patches would also be a source of profit to him with good roads.

Good roads are the farmer's only hope, and every farmer should be heartily in favor of the bond issue, as it is only by that means we can get the roads. There must be a first road built. After that the building of good roads will be rapid. Once their actual benefit is shown there will be found to make the county a network of improved roads.

Vote for the road bonds!

OFFICE CAT

Topeka, Kas., merchants announce a "Ford Day" when all Ford car owners will be invited to make themselves at home on the streets. Jim Swango says he supposed that was what the Fords did every day.

Profitable Lifts—I notice you frequently pick up people and take them to town in your car.

"Yes," said the enterprising citizen, "I've sold quite a lot of life insurance in that way. A man can't very well refuse to hear what you have to say when he is getting a free ride."

True to Type.

"Say, this blasted car you stuck me with I should think was meant to stall, judging by the way it acts."

"Well, what are you kicking about? Didn't you buy it on the installment plan?"

Out in Omaha a gas meter reader turned out to be a burglar. Sometimes it does seem rather hard to make the distinction.

Paul—At the party I thought your costume was ripping.

Pauline—Well, if you were a gentleman, you would have told me so.

Two postmasters in one postoffice is the unusual plight of Pleasant Valley, N. Y. What chance has a postcard there, we ask you?

Laundry stockings, speaking in generalities, are reminders that good things come to those who wait.

I went to the fountain with Mary And met with an awful mishap; For I awkwardly emptied a bottle Of soda all over her lap.

But Mary was gentle and gracious (For mine is so tactful as she) 'Cause she said to me, "Don't you worry, Said sweetly, 'The drinks are on me'."

Wife—Before we were married you used to swear you would love me always. Now you only swear.

Bobby's dog was limping along on three feet. "Look, Daddy, Tag is not hitting on all four cylinders."

"There was a time," expostulated Lucky Baldwin, "when the saxophone was a very useful and respected instrument, but, like some people, they have got to running around in pairs, trios and sextets, and proved that two's company and three's bad company."

More earthquakes in California. They're awfully sensitive about mentioning them out there. It's said the newspapers now use the heading: "Latest Movements in Real Estate."

Success brings poise, but more often avoidance.

Evert Mathis says that it is better to have father and son meetings at the church than in the woodshed.

Money brings so little happiness to those who have it that I can't think it will be the currency of our next existence.

Jim Davis says that cheap thinking and high kicking are the things that are sending this country to the bow-wows.

"He's an amateur Edison. His house is full of home made electrical devices."

"A regular electric fan, eh?"

A skull half an inch thick found in Arizona will be sent to Washington. That's nothing, though, most of them there are that thick.

"Why is it that you have never married, Sam?" asked a white woman of a shiftless colored man who did odd jobs for her. "Won't any of the girls have you?"

"Oh, yes'm, they'd have me all right," replied Sam, "but it's this-a-way. When I feels like gettin' married I ain't got no $2 for a license and when I has $2 I feels too right to get married."

Best results are always obtained by yielding the right of way to a railroad train, a street car or heavy truck.

Dr. Burton says when a man is called upon to pay the price of his folly, he feels like asking a rebate.

Ikey and Izzy were separating after an evening together, when Ikey said:

"An revoir," "Dat's good-by" asked Izzy. "Dat's 'good-by' in French." "Well," said Izzy, "Carbolic acid." "Dat's dat?" asked Ikey. "Dat's 'good-by' in any language."

Green Oakley says apparently there is no way to cut out the pattern of peace without having a few scraps left over.

Life is Full of Bumps; Don't Have Them in The Roads.

Morgan county has a chance to go over the top. Citizens, why not exercise this great opportunity?

Good roads is the question of today but it is very hard to get each individual to realize it until he has been plunged to the axel in the mud when a heavy load. Then he has a faint idea that he needs good roads.

We have now two miles of good road in our county, and when one of our citizens gets on this road he will ask the question, "If all our roads were like this couldn't we save time?"

No, citizens of Morgan county, we haven't the good roads you see in your dreams, and we never will have until we, ourselves, become boosters for good roads, until each individual gets his shoulder to the wheel and gives a lift and keeps the wheels rolling.

Don't be a slacker! Show your colors! Don't say: "I can't; but I will." Anyway, be the first to wade out in the stream and call on all to follow you.

Good roads does not mean merely just good traveling and transportation, but they will raise the standard of education to the top round. Look at our little rural schools of today, with illly equipped rooms, and a horse teacher waiting for pay-day!

Why not build good roads, consolidate the schools and give the bright boys and girls their rights? I want to say to each citizen of Morgan county: You are responsible for the education of your children, and you will have to give some of your earnings to this grand cause, and if you will build roads, consolidate the schools your children at home will get the help to which they are entitled.

Do this with that money you would have to pay for board and tuition. Then, if good roads, mean good schools, it also means good churches. How many people are barred from church attendance just from the lack of good roads?

And the greatest institution in the land—the Home—is made better by good roads. How many boys have left home just because the lack of good roads kept them from getting the pleasures of boyhood that is the right of all young men? The cry is: "I can't get any where and back to my home in a respectable manner."

The farmer is the man who needs good roads. Enough of farm products is wasted in Morgan county each year to build at least five miles of road. Why not have this road and pay for it with the wasted produce?

In a few years we could have good roads in every part of the county. Listen! You who have influence! Strive to get the inspiration of good roads in the minds of all your neighbors. Get out and preach the glad tidings of good roads.

(The above is a part of one of the articles written by the students of the summer normal this summer, but it was unsigned and we can not give proper credit—Editor.)

We Must Have a School. Should it turn out that West Liberty does not get the new Normal School we should get together and enlarge the facilities of the High School. We have shown in the fight for the State Normal that we can do big things when we work together, and if the Normal goes to some other town we can make our local school one of the best in the State, for it has been demonstrated that we can attract the pupils. Of course we could not expect our citizens to contribute as liberally to a county institution as they did to secure a State school, but we could make up quite a sum. The County Board of Education could go the limit and we then would have funds to start out to build a great school. All of our people know that West Liberty is the best located town in the mountains for a school town, and know that if we could make arrangements to accommodate the students with class room and places to board that there would be no limit to the number of students our town would attract.

A Normal department and a business course could be added and we would soon have the school town of the State. We couldn't do all this at once, but we could set our mark high and soon work to it.

Let's get busy and see what can be done toward the proposition.

Our Chances Grow Better. Since there has been a decided tendency to inject politics into the Normal School situation the chances of West Liberty to secure the school are growing better. Such bitter feeling has grown between Morehead and the Big Sandy towns that to place the school at either would mean a failure for the institution.

The Republican administration—the school end of it—if they can't secure the school for Paintsville, are maneuvering to have the Thompson appointment locate the school at Morehead, in order to have it become a issue in the campaign for State of fices next year. They astutely figure that with all the publicity the newspapers have given the matter, and the allegations that the Thompson appointments were made to give the schools to Murray and Morehead will be good campaign stuff.

One other thing that is working on the fears of both Governor and Mr. Colvin is—Judge O'Rear. It is said that the Governor will be a candidate for U. S. Senator and that Mr. Colvin would like to have the Republican nomination for Governor. It has also been whispered that Judge O'Rear might have political aspirations, and neither of the first named gentlemen would fancy him as an opponent.

Both Governor Morrow and Mr. Colvin are astute enough to see the possibilities of the situation. By so maneuvering as to get the Thompson appointments—one of whom is Judge O'Rear—to locate the school at Morehead, in the face of the hue and cry that it was a "fixed deal" from the beginning, they see an opportunity to get good campaign material for the Republicans and at the same time put a quietus on any political aspirations Judge O'Rear might have.

But, seeing that the original bill gave the location of the schools to three Republicans, and that they intended to put the school practically on the West Virginia border, the commission will doubtless, see that the only way to help the solution of a tangled proposition is to locate the school at West Liberty—the best location for it, anyway—and disappoint those who seek to drag the school into party politics.

Having confidence in both the integrity and good sense of the members of the Commission we believe that after mature deliberation on the situation, as it now exists, they will decide to locate the school here.

To the Public: West Liberty, Ky., Sept. 18, 1922. Notice is hereby given to all persons in West Liberty, Ky., who have water piped from the public well to their homes or places of business, that the supply will be cut off Oct. 1st, 1922, and will not be turned on again until we can make arrangements with the parties at the new rates.

There are a few families who want the taxpayers of Morgan county to furnish them free water, and as it is impossible to furnish all the people of the county that way we do not feel like granting special privileges.

We certainly do hate to put a hardship on those who want to use the water and are willing to pay for what they get, but for the sake of adjustment we have to do it to get rid of those who won't pay.

Sincerely yours,
JAMES V. HENRY,
LYNN B. WELLS,
